Heliski Safari aux Iles Kouriles

Voici une idée du programme pour le trip Heliski Safari aux Iles Kouriles. C'est un résumé et la traduction du programme établi avec Maksim. La version anglaise est à la fin du document.
Ce programme est indicatif, il faudra s'adapter aux conditions météo. Si le sud n'est pas accessible et que rien n'indique que la météo permette une ouverture, on partira au nord sur des Volcans de plus haute altitude. On devra être flexible.

Je vous laisse taper tous les noms de lieux et de volcans sur google, ou google map, et vous laisse rêver.

Il y a encore quelques points à confirmer ou à modifier, mais l'essentiel est là, le reste c'est du cosmétique.

The name of Onekotan island is derived from the Ainu language for "large village": Onne kotan where onne is "old, large", kotan is "village". The area is - 425 км.. There are active volcanoes which are located in calderas of older volcanoes. Krenitsyn volcano (1324 meters) is located in the south, in Tao-Rusyr Caldera. Nemo Peak (1019 meters) is in the north part of the island. The island is almost fully covered with dwarf Siberian pine and alder-cedar elfin. The height of the trees reaches 2-4 meters. There are many species of berries in fall: crowberry, blueberry, cloudberry. The biggest animal is a fox, but there are also many small rodents. Seals and sea lions frisk near the coastline.

Krenitsyn volcano is the biggest volcano 'within a volcano' in the world. The volcano is encircled by the waters of the deepest freshwater lake on the Russian islands. The maximum depth fixed by scientists is 264 meters. Apparently this depth is not a limit for the Koltsevoe lake. The diameter of the huge caldera is more than 7 km. The height of the walls reaches 500 meters above lake level.
